DEDICATE FIELDHOUSE MONDAY NIGHT

CYO One-Act Play Contest Here This Sunday In College Theatre

St. Joseph's College Theater will be the scene of a contest of one-act plays to be given at two o'clock on the afternoon of Dec. 14 by the CYO units of the various surrounding Deaneries.

Expected to participate in the contest are CYO units from Loganport, Hammond, Lafayette, Fort Wayne, Gary, and possibly from one or two other places.

25-Minute Plays

All of the plays, which will be of twenty-five minutes duration, will have the same background of purple drops and curtains. The furniture, however, will vary from play to play according to the needs of the setting as required by the play.

Judges for the contest will be the Rev. Fathers Joseph Sheeran, C.P.P.S., Rufus Esser, C.P.P.S., and Raphael Gross, C.P.P.S. An award furnished by the CYO, will be given to the winning unit.

Father Baechle Will Give Annual Christmas Music

Christmas spirit will pervade the campus over the week-end when the Rev. John Baechle, C.P.P.S., presents recorded concerts of Yuletide hymns at 2 p. m., Saturday, 10 a. m. and 12:45 p. m., Sunday, in Room 232, Science Hall. Each program will last an hour and a half.

Beginning Saturday and continuing until the opening of the Holidays, Father Beachle will broadcast carols over the campus, via loudspeaker, for ten minutes preceding dinner and supper.

Included in the concerts, Lew White, organist, will accompany a mixed choral group in Silent Night, Hark! the Herald Angels Sing, Joy to the World, It Came Upon the Midnight Clear, O Little Town of Bethlehem, Adeste Fideles, and The First Noel. The Trinity Choir will be heard in Star of the East and The Birthday of a King. Tubular chimes will ring out the First Noel, Christmas Bells, and Deck the Hall. Recordings will also be played which feature the songs of the Neopolitan Trio and the Vienna Choir Boys.

Judges For C.Y.O. Drama Contest

Fathers Raphael Gross, Joseph Sheeran, and Rufus Esser will act as judges for the CYO one-act play contest to be held in the College Theatre Sunday afternoon.

Postpone Christmas Concert Until 1942

According to Rev. Robert Koch, C.P.P.S., the joint College Band-Glee Club concert, which was scheduled to take place before Christmas, will be postponed until after the holidays.

Father Wuest Studies Stock Market Trends

The Rev. Albert Wuest, C.P.P.S., of the chemistry department, has been watching the stock quotations conscientiously this week. Some time ago, at Lafayette, Fr. Wuest attended a bazaar and won a 200-pound hog. So now he is naturally interested in the comparative prices such creatures bring.

This will be of particular interest to the Rev. Joseph Sheeran, C.P.P.S., English and philosophy professor, who won a 75-pound shoat last year at a similar affair. Perhaps Fr. Wuest's prize is Fr. Sheeran's pet grown up.

Start Installation Of Theatre Drapes

In the College Theatre this past week, work was begun to install the new velvet drapes which will cover all the windows in the hall.

The curtain material has been on the campus some time, according to those in charge of the theatre. Draw rods and other furniture arrived only recently, however, and work on the installation was started immediately.

Besides adding greatly to the appearance of the theatre, the new drapes will improve the acoustics, making it easier for the audience to hear performers on the stage.

Bishop John F. Noll Addresses Audience In Alumni Fieldhouse

The Most Rev. John F. Noll, D.D., bishop of Fort Wayne, speaks to the crowd gathered in the Alumni Fieldhouse Monday night. The occasion was the formal dedication of the structure.

Fr. Neiset Brings Back New Specimens For Geology Lab

Arborescent native silver, dazzling amethysts, rare natural crystals of sulfur, polished specimens of petrified wood and malachite, colorful crystals and ores of antimony, copper, zinc, chromium, barium, beryllium, molybdenum and vanadium are but a few of the fifty varieties of specimens numbering well over one hundred that have been added to the increasing collection of the geology department.

Comes From Iowa

The Rev. C. F. Nieset, C.P.P.S., instructor of geology, accompanied by senior geology major, Steve Theodosius, obtained the collection on a recent visit to West Bend, Iowa. The collection, which included specimens that are rarely found and obtained by collectors, was generously donated by the builder of the world famous "Grotto of the Redemption," the Rev. Paul Bobberstein.

The grotto is composed of precious stones, ores, minerals, fossils, petrifications, shells and corals obtained from all over the world. Fr. Dobberstein estimates that he has spent thirty years in its construction. His hopes are to complete it within the next eight years. For his monument to God the priest travels 37,000 miles a year to obtain materials. The estimated value of the grotto is $1,000,000 and is the best of its kind to be found anywhere.

Science Society Shows Two Motion Pictures

Prior to the meeting of the Albertus Magnus Society last Thursday evening, the club sponsored two movies, "Operations on the Eye" and "Operations on the Nose."

The members unanimously accepted Bob Farrell's drawing for a new coat of arms for the club. New members who have been accepted into the club this semester are James Bogan, George Deininger, Remi Hazinski, Vasco Luchi, and John McGarahan.

Bill Gay In Accident

Bill Gay, popular senior from Youngstown, Ohio, was out of school a week while his broken collar bone, injured in a mishap, was mending.

Mr. and Mrs. Gay suffered shock and bruises.

Bishop Noll, President Dirksen Principal Speakers For Occasion

Monday night, December 8, the Alumni fieldhouse was formally dedicated. A capacity crowd filled the huge structure for the dedication ceremonies and the St. Joe-Illinois Wesleyan game that followed.

At 7:30, after the St. Joseph's band, under the direction of Prof. Paul Tonner, played the National Anthem, the Rev. Edward Roof, C. P. P. S., opened his remarks as master of ceremonies.

Alumni President Speaks

Mavor Conrad Kellner then addressed a few words of praise at the great strides the college has made within the past five years. Kellner was followed by J. Henry Hipkind, national president of the St. Joseph's Alumni Association. Hipkind, in the name of the Alumni, made the formal presentation of the fieldhouse to the college.

Father Roof then introduced the Very Rev. Dr. Aloys Dirksen, C.P.P.S., president of St. Joseph's. After a short inspiration address, Father Dirksen presented the Most Rev. John F. Noll, D.D., bishop of Fort Wayne.

Three uniformed members of the Rensselaer American Legion were on hand to serve as a guard of honor for the flag. The entire assemblage gave the salute to the flag before the dedication ceremonies began.

Alumni Banquet Dec. 30

Cook County Alumni association's annual holiday banquet will be held in the Hotel Sherman, Tuesday, December 30, it was announced early today.

As an innovation this year, alumni and students attending will be permitted to bring along their mothers, wives or sweethearts.

Kent Sagendorf, Aviation Expert, Talks December 13

One of the nation's foremost aviation journalists, Kent Sagendorf, will lecture in the College Theatre Saturday night, December 13. The lecture will deal with America's rearmament and is particularly timely since the Japanese-American war began early this week.

Sagendorf should be able to give many an interesting experience in the field of aviation. He was honorably discharged from the Third Pursuit Company, U. S. Army air corps, in Manila (scene of recent Japanese-American action.)

Knows Japan Intimately

After his hitch with the air corps, Sagendorf was employed by the Dutch Shell Oil Company in Shanghai. He knows Siberia, Korea and Japan rather intimately.

He worked for a time with the Fairchild Aerial Surveys as an aerial photographer and was four years in Central America and Mexico before he went to New York as a member of the staff of Aero Digest.

Sagendorf has contributed articles on aviation—particularly on aerial photography—to many of the most important national publications. His writings are now syndicated by the Chicago Sunday Times.

Ken Sagendorf

He will bring along several model airplanes and a bomb sight for demonstration purposes during his lecture.

"Let there be Peace in Thy strength, O Lord, and plenty in Thy strong places."

The chaos of war has engulfed the world and we go like a blind man seeking a turning path down towards a place where a ray of hope still shines through the darkness. We are facing a crisis of life. Thank God that we have faced these things before, and prayed, and crossed that place where the soft light of hope was shining.

This much must we say: No matter what tomorrow holds in store for us, no matter how hard, how difficult the trial, we must have courage. Above all, we must have faith. We must have faith in God, in our beliefs, in our hopes, and in ourselves. Moreso now, than ever before in our days, must we go to God in the quiet of the Chapel.

Particularly during a time of war, the world gropes about in confusion. Men throw aside those things they have worked for; they give up; they become lost and afraid and alone. To those of us who know life's meaning, there should be no such losing, no fear, no loneliness. Our goal must remain unchanged; we must not become confused.

It is easy enough to say that we must not allow ourselves to be swept away into the whirlpool, but it is hard—very hard—to hold fast those things we count as precious. It should be our concern, then, to be ever alert and watchful lest sometime in the night we wake suddenly to feel the coldness of fear touching on our forehead. There is no fear in strength, nothing of the coldness and confusion of the lost. There is nothing of lonesomeness in strength.

Where shall we drink of this well of strength, where shall we fortify ourselves? Some men will tell us different ways; they will point to different paths. But only in the silent chapel of our soul, alone with God, can we find true strength. Only there is peace.

THE RALEIGH CLUB DESERVES the praise of all the students for their willingness to sponsor a Saturday night movie. True, last Saturday night's picture came to a rather untimely end. This was not, however, the fault of the Club. It was one of those unavoidable accidents that insurance companies call "acts of God." The Raleigh Club hopes that this occurrence will not end the Saturday night show. After Christmas vacation, the series will be started anew. It is up to the rest of us to make certain that the movie is a success by attending the next show. Walking out with our support would hardly be sporting when the Club is still willing to make another attempt.

Following the Flickers

With Dick Schreiber

Motion picture producers at Metro Goldwyn Mayer studios brought down the wrath of the Legion of Decency last week with a new picture entitled "Two Faced Woman." The picture stars Greta Garbo and Melvyn Douglas and was condemned on the following counts: (1) That it took an indecent and immoral attitude towards the sacrament of Marriage; (2) that it was impudently suggestive in dialogue, scene, and situation; (3) that it was suggestive in its costumes.

Originally, the picture had been scheduled for a showing in Rensselaer next Sunday. Because the management realized its offensiveness, the booking was changed with the result that the "Shadow of the Thin Man" was postponed a week and "Sundown" was inserted in its place.

The manager of the Rensselaer Theatre Corporation assures us that he will not book the picture if he can possibly avoid it. Of course all of us know of that prevalent evil in the cinema industry called "block booking" where the manager is sometimes forced to show a picture whether he approves of it or not. If it should happen that this picture must be shown, the only proper thing for all of us to do is to avoid seeing it ourselves and encourage others to do likewise.

RITZ: Friday & Saturday — Penny Singleton (Blondie) and Charley Ruggles are together in a harmless, exciting little film entitled "Go West Young Man." Ann Miller, Hollywood's dancing sweetheart, plays one of the leading roles. Legion Rating: A-2.

RITZ: Sunday, Monday, Tuesday—We reviewed the "Shadow of the Thin Man" last week, as explained above. We can only repeat that Bill Powell, Myrna Loy, and Asta (that's the dog) always make an entertaining evening. Legion Rating: A-2.

PALACE: Sunday, Monday, Tuesday — "Unholy Partners," with Edward G. Robinson and Lorraine Day, is the story of fighting tabloid editor at odds with the big city racketeers in the "exciting twenties." Some good, authentic newspaper scenes. Legion Rating: B.

RITZ: Wednesday & Thursday—Merle Oberon and Alan Marshal play opposite each other in a story about a Boston Debutante who has four suitors. It is interesting to note that baked beans also originated in Boston. Legion Rating: A-2.

❖ Campus Capers ❖

This past week has shown quite a few things, and we hope that we can remember some of them... The main thing we would like to get off of our chest is this Cahill proposition—Sweet William has not only supplanted Chirpin' Eddie Bandjough as the No. 1 threat A. I. (After Ikovie) in the senior class, but has also scared away all competition... The big red-head put on the steam the other day with three of those blue jobs with the return address, St. Mary's of the Woods... 'Nuf of the seniors though...

Last year we thought it bad when one of the studes decided to tuck a pair of track shoes under his arm on a Sunday nite in town in an attempt to crash the local society... BUT this year comes a better one, for now, dear children, we would like to flash across the horizon the banners of Johnny (Choreographer) Risch and Donal Vogt... These personages came through with the brainstorm of roller skates... and were seen floating hither and thither about the renowned court house square... Tops 'em all... Not?

With a little research we find that the 'Globe Trotters' played in Toledo about the same nite they played through Indiana... MMM Could it be we got another outfit of them shoved at us???? And just another note about Thomas Allen Brier, Gary's gift to Geology—one wouldn't suspect him of having that way with 'em... But we saw him last Sunday nite... Did you????

Father Hartman still with that fine cheery greeting and that old reliable semi-salute... One thing about it, his greeting really radiates to one... We've seen many come and go but for an interesting entertainment we give you a Youngstown product in Jimmy Heckel... Added wonderment—what ever became of that expression—"Get on the Ball"???

This Schoder boy, Merrit, seems to have come a long way since we last took cognizance of him in this literary 'masterpiece'... The freshman from up Michigan way has a sorta monopoly on that ticket line at the Ritz... or so we hear, Bennie!!!!

The other nite at band practice all the steam was not blown through the horns... But then from what we gather we don't blame the boys in the percussion section...

Well 'tempus fugit' and so we take leave with a word to those fellows so interested in DAZE (outside of the editors)—DAZE comes out maybe 4 times a year—STUFF every week... Oh, well, a word to the wise is sufficient... Bye now.

War Has Come: Columnist Checks Student Reaction

By John Ford

This week rather solemnly we approached the student body. In the last issue we asked a part of Collegeville's population what they would do in the event that America would get into war. We said something about bells being tolled and 1942—not even dreaming that a conflict was close at hand. Now it is upon us.

STUFF went to the students to discover what their plans now were—if any are to have plans.

Stan Laypsys, a 21-year-old senior from Chicago, Ill., says: "I plan to continue school until the semester and then I will enlist in the Marines."

Steve Theodosios, 21, a senior from Joliet, Ill., said that he wished to continue his education until action was necessary. Then, he planned to join the army. Steve is majoring in geology.

A freshman, who is 20, Ed O'Donnell, from Peoria, Ill., said, "I intend to continue my education until drafted. I do not intend to join any branch of the service at present."

Wilmont Kerr, 19, from Ft. Wayne, said that he hoped to continue school. However, in the event that the situation becomes grave he intends to join the navy—Yoe-man branch.

Bill Miering, 20, from Ft. Recovery, Ohio, said: "I am going to finish this year at school. Next summer I will enlist in the air corps."

Another 20-year-old sophomore, Fred Hughes, from Rockford, Ill., said that he will continue his education until drafted. He doesn't particularly care what branch he serves in.

Collegeville's population, when approached with this question, was not filled with emotional zeal, but with quiet determination. It was not debated who really caused the war. Each knew his America was attacked. Each knew he had a job awaiting him. Now with everybody it is America first!

Senior Sketches

By John Feicht

Radio work seems to be the ultimate end for which senior Bill Gay is striving. Majoring in English, Bill hopes that it won't be long before he can land a job with one of the wireless hookups.

Coming from Youngstown, Ohio, where he attended South High School, Bill matriculated at Case School of Applied Science for one year before he entered St. Joseph's in his sophomore year.

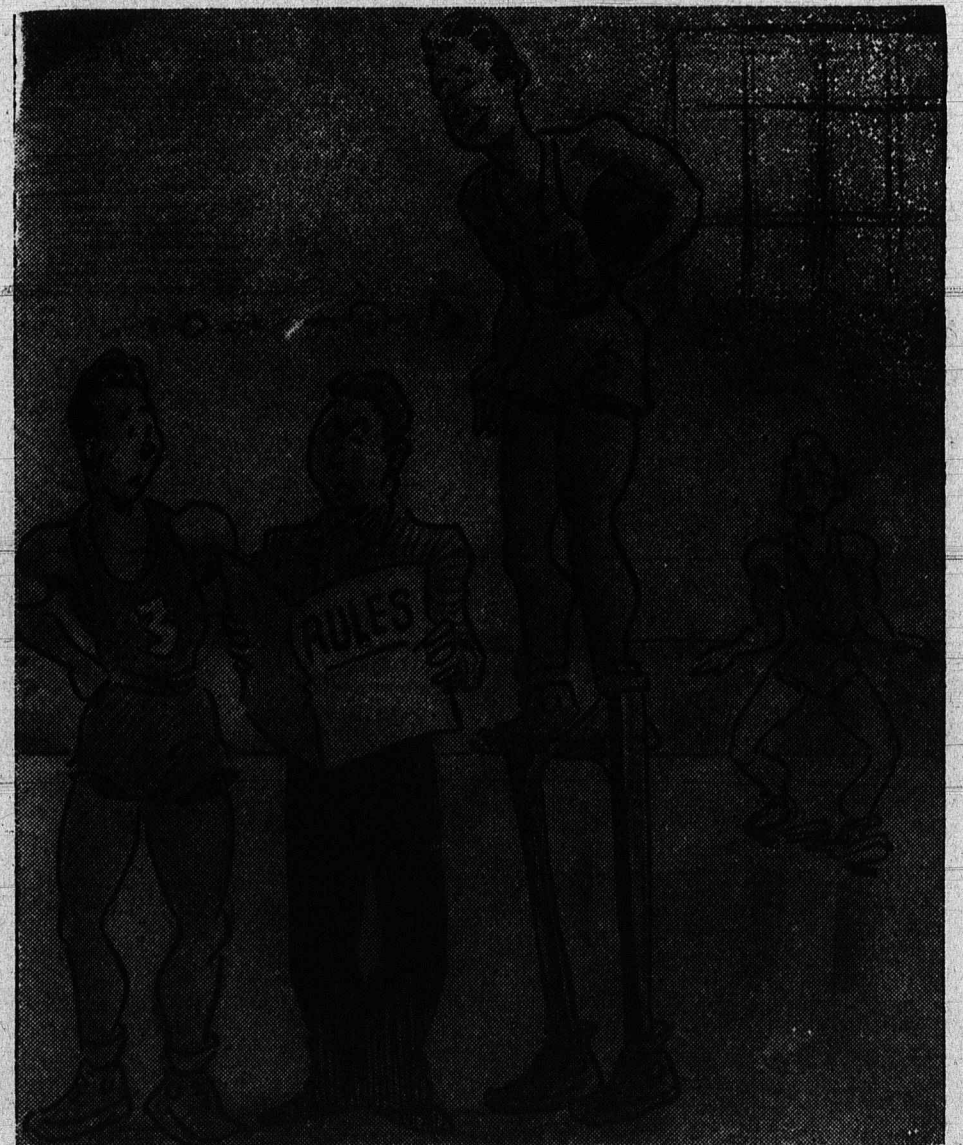

During his three years at the Collegeville institution, Bill has held membership in the Glee Club, Raleigh Club, and C.L.S. This year he holds the offices of Business Manager for the vocal group and Treasurer for the literary organization. He has taken part in productions by both of these groups. Bill was a pirate in the "Pirates of Penzance" and Lord Briton in the "Queen's Husband."

St. Joe added another step in its progressive stride forward in the field of sports this past Monday with the inauguration of the new Field House. The climax of years of planning and hard work, made possible through the generosity of a loyal alumni, the Field House will stand as a lasting memorial to this epoch-making era in the annals of the College.

CATHOLIC CONFERENCE???
Pipe dream? Maybe. How does it sound? Eight Catholic Colleges of the middle west forming a league of their own. Stimulation of interest, rivalry, and netting closer contact with our fellow Catholics.

The need of such a league has been apparent for some time. Several athletic directors have expressed the desire to see such a league formed. A year's trial would not hurt. Why not?

Only a sample of the makings of such a league: Xavier, Dayton, St. Joe, John Carroll, St. Ambrose, St. Benedict's, Loras, and St. Norbert. Any number of Catholic secondary colleges are in existence in this section of the country. The formation of such a league would be to the advantage of each.

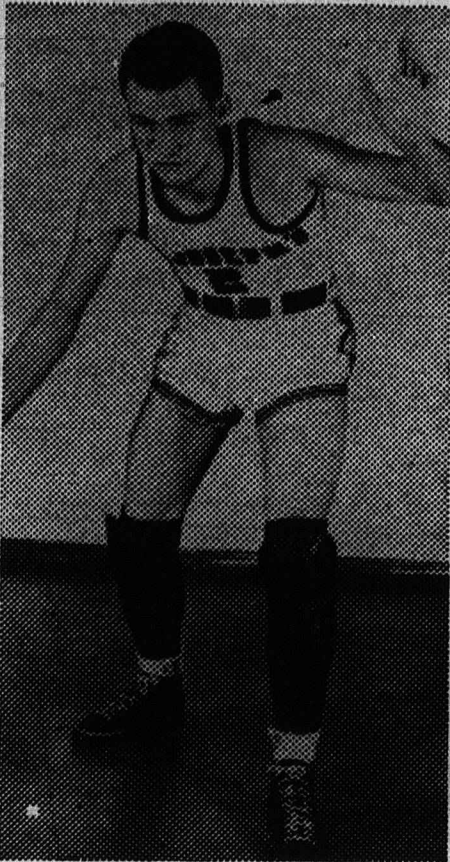

The real need right now is for a leader. Someone with initiative and the stamina to see the thing get underway and carried through. Are there any volunteers among the needy???

Possibilities of having a live-wire IM basketball program look pretty good right now. If the managers only stay on the ball with the same enthusiasm they started out with, we'll see some real games this winter.

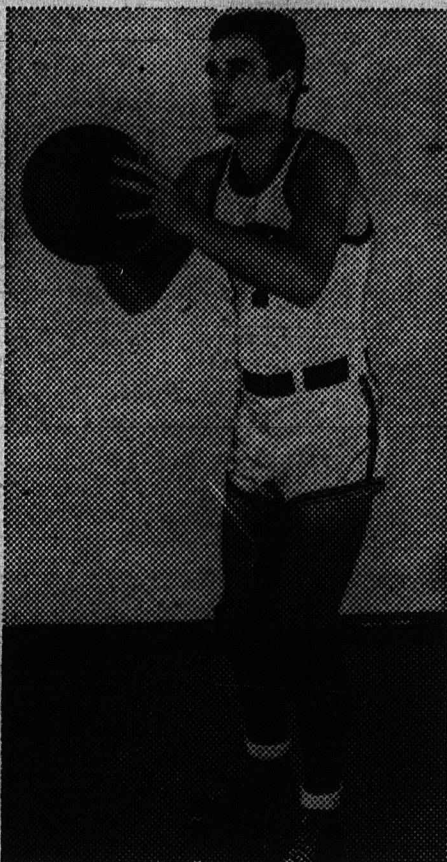

Monday's Game:

Puma supporters in the student section committed a grievous offense against grandstand etiquette at the dedication game last Monday night. Booming officials is out of place in any contest, whether away or at home. It might be a common thing at some prep games, but college fans are expected to act like college-bred sportsmen. The pressure was on for that first home game... maybe that was the reason.

Gridiron Banquet Monday Has Many Noted Speakers

The annual banquet in honor of St. Joe's undefeated football squad will be held next Monday evening at 6:30 in the College dining room.

The principal speaker on the program will be Joe Boland, line coach of Purdue University's football team. Other speakers will include Chris Hankenmeier, writer for the Indianapolis News; Lefty Clark, of the Rensselaer Republican; St. Joe Coach Joe Dienhart; and the V. Rev. Aloys H. Dirksen, C.P.P.S., college president. Acting as toastmaster will be Stan Feeze, noted Indianapolis sportsman.

Glee Club Sings

Also on the program will be the St. Joe College Glee Club under the direction of the Rev. Robert Koch, C.P.P.S.

Sideline Glances:

Jiggs Huysman has shown about one-hundred per cent improvement over his last year's game... a little more experience will put Jiggs in the top class... Sophs are again prominent in the major action, putting the upperclass material in the minority... Speaking of scrappy spirit... competition in sports is one way of letting off some of the "yellow fever" steam... In some respects St. Joe seems to be going back to the days Mr. Hipskind was talking about and bringing back some of the old customs he mentioned in his dedication speech... St. Joe's scoring punch has increased three points per game to date... 33-37-40.

Millikin College, St. Norbert Next Opponents For SJC

St. Joe's Pumas made the dedication program complete last Monday night by defeating Illinois Wesleyan, 40-32, in their third game of the season. Bernie Hoffman paced the Pumas, scoring with five field goals and four free tosses for fourteen points. It was the second win in three starts for the Pumas.

In the season's opener at Illinois Normal last Wednesday night the Pumas were set back, 45-33. Neal Mosser's 14 points contributed the major Puma punch. Len Scott led the Illini squad with 12 marks.

On Friday night the Dienhart boys traveled to Chicago Teachers College to take their first victory, 37-35. St. Joe held a 24-17 lead at half time. The Teachers gained a St. Joe will travel again this coming Saturday to meet James Millikin College at Decatur, Illinois. Millikin are newcomers to Puma schedules, but their renown in collegiate basketball assures the Pumas of a battling opponent. St. Norbert will be guests of Collegeville on Tuesday, December 16, in the second home game of the schedule. The Green Knights will be out to seek partial vengeance for the football setback handed them here not so long ago.

32-31 lead for the first time in the game with only five minutes of playing time left. Tom Ritter and Tony Ponzevic registered at the right time to give the Pumas the right end of the final 37-35 score.

Coach Joe Dienhart advanced LeRoy Huysman, six-six, 235-pound sophomore, to the starting center position. Huysman alternated the job with Bob Stadtmiller (who started the Chicago Teachers game at center) throughout the game.

Bob Crabtree proved a one-man team for the Titans. He accounted for 13 of their points. Crabtree and Buettner were the only vets of last year's team to appear in the Wesleyan lineup.

Academy Splits Bill To Open Season

The St. Joseph's High School Cubs kept the record books balanced over the week-end by defeating Central Catholic of South Bend, 25-24, and losing to St. Ignatius, of Chicago, 33-24.

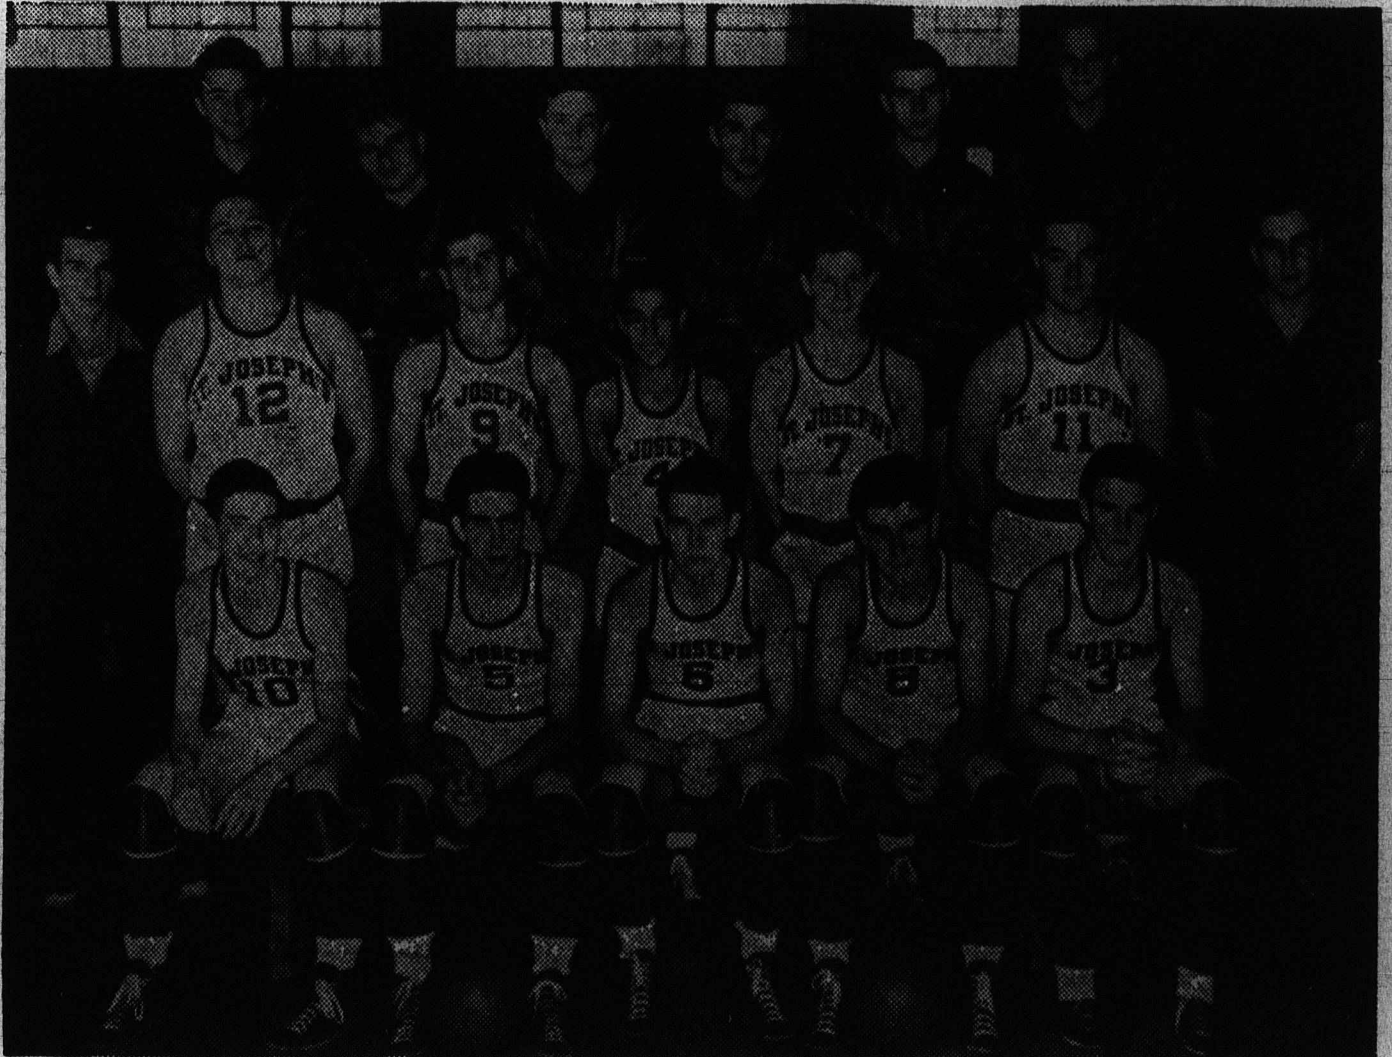

The game at South Bend, Saturday night, was the kind thrilling spectators dream about. It was neck and neck from beginning to end. The Cubs were in front 8-6 at the quarter. The score was knotted 12-all at the half. The Cubs untied the knot and gave themselves a slight 17-16 edge at the close of the third period. During the wild and woolly last quarter, Central Catholic jumped into the lead only to be edged out in the closing minutes by St. Joe.

Brading scored seven points; Greene, two; Wunderlich, one; Richert, nine; Schmelter, three, and Millea, three.

A mighty strong St. Ignatius team took over the lead near the end of the first half, Sunday afternoon, and held it the rest of the way. The Cubs were pacing the visitors 9-6 at the close of the first quarter. Ignatius led 18-13 at the half and 23-15 at the close of the third period.

Millea led the scoring with eight points; Greene got six; Richert, five; Schmelter, three, and Brading, two.

The Academy Corner

By Joe Wolford

Be sure to make this a retreat to be proud of, for no one is certain it is not his last one.

Much ado was paid to the Curtain Club's initial success, "First Legion." In the Academy, however, there is a certain feeling that Shorty Redden didn't quite receive the prestige that he deserved. Therefore, in all justice, we offer Shorty our heartiest congratulations for his fine job of acting.

The pool tournament was off to a brilliant start this week with twenty entries. In every contest there are always sure things, dark horses, and impossibilities. Before the beginning of the tournament Bob Greene looked like a "sure thing," till an "impossibility" by the name of Casper Brading beat him. Then there was Tom Domsic who looked pretty good, but he was beaten by a very dark horse, Rich Latendresse. There are no predictions on this pool tournament for the simple reason no one looks like a sure thing.

Since we are talking of predictions, it might be said that we were fairly close in forecasting Max

Schmid as winner of the third round in ping pong. Max was eliminated in the finals of that round by Wunderlich. To play safe, therefore, we predict Wunderlich the winner of the fourth, fifth, and sixth rounds, etc.

There has been much consternation among the Juniors and Seniors about the Newman Club. Surely, the club is not to be cast aside as soon as officers are elected. Furthermore, there is bountiful acting ability in the Academy that is wanting its chance to prove itself. Therefore, the cry: "Is the Newman Club dying out?"

The preliminary contest to the Academy varsity game will be composed of the I-M All Stars and the

Raleigh Club Movie Ends When Bulb Burns Out

Saturday night, the Raleigh Club's presentation of the movie version of "Lorna Doone" was interrupted at the time of greatest suspense, when a bulb in the projector burned out.

No serial could have ended at a more psychological moment—just as the villain was about to shoot the heroine. Charles Hankish, club president, promises that the next Raleigh Club movie will be a newer film and that such a mishap as a bulb's burning out will be guarded against.

J.V. of the Academy. Coach Dick Scharf has declared that it is not at all improbable that Monday may see some I-M All Stars in place of some J-V players. Jim Guillet, the all-stars' sparkplug, will evidently get his big break Sunday.

Xmas Vacation Next

Making the most of a three-day vacation, because of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, many of the students journeyed home over last weekend.

All of them, however, were back Monday evening to attend the dedication ceremonies in the new field-house (see story elsewhere in this edition) and for classes Tuesday morning.

Next time there is a general movement towards home on the part of the students will be for Christmas vacation. Twelve o'clock noon, December 18, is the day set for the start of Christmas vacation.

War Comes To Campus

War came rather quietly to the Collegeville Campus. It was long expected. After the shock of its sudden outburst wore off, campus activity settled down to near normal.

There is, of course, much conjecture as to the status of those students—particularly the seniors—who are registered for the draft.

Generally speaking, war is the principal topic of conversation at the college. However, little immediate effects of its coming are visible here as STUFF goes to press.
